Introduction

The East Asian Library in Leiden University<sup>1</sup> has a collection of 40 old books and manuscripts in Manchu. Most of these were described in Professor Hartmut Walravens' German catalogue of 35 Manchu books that was published as "Mandjurische Bücher im Sinologisch Instituut, Leiden," in: Central Asiatic Journal, 30:3-4 (1986) pp. 275-284. The present English catalogue of Manchu books (part A) was made on the basis of this catalogue adding some new information about the provenance. Five items were added at the end and were described with the assistance of Professor Walravens.

The East Asian Library also has a small collection of five old Mongolian books that are catalogued here as well (part B), with the assistance of Dr Hans Nugteren and Professor Hartmut Walravens.<sup>2</sup> These comprise one calendar and four Christian items. It should be noted that there is a certain overlap between the two collections, and that eight bilingual items in Mongolian and Manchu (or trilingual with Chinese) are classified with the Manchu books (HW nos. 7, 24, 26, 29, 31, and extra nos. 38, 39, 40).

A description of four Imperial honorific decrees (Manchu and Chinese, dated 1761-1819) and one presidential honorific decree (Chinese and Mongolian; dated 1918) are added in Appendix I.

There are Tables of the Manchu and Mongolian books, manuscripts and decrees in Appendix II.

<sup>1</sup> The East Asian Library in Leiden University Libraries was established on 1 September 2009, combining the libraries of the Sinological Institute (Sinologisch Instituut, established in 1930) and those of the Centre for Japanese and Korean studies.

<sup>2</sup> Thanks are also due to Mr Piet Rombouts, who assisted in cataloguing these collections. And to Prof. Sven Osterkamp (Bochum) who made some important comments.

A.Old Manchu books: overview and provenance

The collection contains 32 printed books (blockprints), one of which one has two copies (nos. 31a and b), and 8 manuscripts (HW nos. 1, 14, 24, 25, extra nos. 36, 37, 39 and 40). Most of the books are dictionaries and other books on the Manchu language. The collection is divided into the following seven sections:

- I. Chinese classics in Manchu translation (4 items, HW nos. 1-4)
- II. Chinese philosophy in Manchu translation (6 items, nos. 5-10)
- III. Religion: Manchu New Testament (1 item, no. 11)
- IV. History of the Yuan dynasty in Manchu translation (1 item, no. 12)
- V. Manchu language: mostly bilingual Chinese-Manchu editions, primers, dictionaries, also Manchu-Mongolian-Chinese dictionaries (19 items, nos. 13-32)
- VI. Chinese fiction in Manchu translation (3 items, nos. 33-35)
- VII. Supplement to Walravens' catalogue (5 items, nos. 36-40)

The provenance of 34 items has now been established (or assumed) and is described in the order of arrival in Leiden University Library as follows.

One item (no. 15) was already in the Leiden University Library in 1836. It was one of 21 items, mostly Chinese books, on a list prepared by J.J. Hoffmann at the request of the Librarian.<sup>3</sup> Its origin is unknown.

In 1878, the first large contribution of Chinese and Japanese books to the Leiden University Library was the library left by Prof. J.J. Hoffmann (1805-1878). In 1830 Hoffmann had become Ph.F. von Siebold's assistant in Leiden and he began learning Chinese and Japanese by self-study. In 1855 he was appointed as titular professor of Chinese and Japanese at Leiden University. In 1878, the University Library acquired about 100 Chinese and 200 Japanese books from his estate, including four books in Manchu (HW nos. 4, 11, 21, 32). Three of these had originally been presented to Hoffmann by Stanislas Julien (nos. 4, 11, 21). Julien gave Hoffmann at least 20 Chinese and Manchu books, that were probably doubles from the library in Paris.

In 1880, the Library acquired 50 Chinese books from Brill's bookshop that had been bought in Peking with the help of an unknown diplomat. This collection contained three Manchu books (nos. 3, 23, 33).

From 1830 on, Ph.F. von Siebold brought a large collection of about 500 Japanese and some Chinese books and other items to Leiden that he had collected during his stay in Japan in 1823-1829 and later from other sources in Japan, including two manuscripts in Manchu (nos. 14, 25). In 1831, the whole collection was acquired by King William I, and in 1845 it was described in Von Siebold and Hoffmann's Latin catalogue (Catalogus librorum et manuscriptorum Japonicorum). In 1860-1862 the seal "Verzameling Von Siebold" (Von Siebold Collection) was stamped in these books. In 1881 the majority of these books were transferred from the National Ethnographical Museum to the Leiden University Library.

The above mentioned books and manuscripts were described in Gustaaf Schlegel's catalogue of 1883, except Von Siebold's purely Manchu manuscripts nos. 14 and 25.

The books that were later acquired, are of course not mentioned in Schlegel's catalogue. Until the publication of Walravens' catalogue in 1986, there were only handwritten descriptions of these books in the card catalogue of the Sinological Institute. Most books were catalogued under their Chinese title, but purely Manchu books can be found under the general titles Manchu books or Man-wen shu-chi 滿文書籍. Some books contain a slip of paper with a short description in Dutch.

In 1890 or shortly afterwards, ten books were acquired that had belonged to Maurice Jametel (1856-1889)<sup>4</sup> (nos. 5, 6, 7, 8, 16, 17, 27, 29, 31a, 34). Jametel had studied Mandarin Chinese at the École des langues orientales in Paris in 1873-1878, he worked at the French legation in Peking and in consulates in China in 1878-1881, and from 1886 he taught Chinese at his former school in Paris. In 1889 he was appointed there as professor of Chinese, but he passed away a few months later. His books were probably acquired at an auction of his library in Paris; Schlegel, who became titular professor of Chinese in 1875 and full professor in 1877, was always in close contact with the French sinologists. Five of these books have Jametel's ex-libris or his name seal (nos. 8, 16, 27, 29, 31a). One of these has a Chinese price crudely written by a European hand in the left upper corner of the inside of the cover (no. 8). Other books with similar Chinese prices are assumed to have belonged to him also (nos. 5, 6, 7, 17, 34). Some other books may also have belonged to him.

In 1913 and 1918, a large collection of Chinese and other books was acquired from F.G. Kramp (1848-1918) and his estate. Kramp was a banker and businessman, and a curator of maps of the Royal Netherlands Geographic Society (KNAG). He studied Russian, Chinese and Manchu and often travelled in Russia and China.<sup>5</sup> His collection also contained at least twelve books in Manchu (nos. 2, 10, 12, 18, 19, 20, 26, 31b, extra nos. 36, 37, 38, 39). One of the books has an invoice destined for

<sup>5</sup> His biography by A. Kluyver is in the Jaarboek van de maatschappij der Nederlandse letterkunde, 1919, pp. 66-76, also in www.dbnl.org.

Kramp with on the reverse side notes in Russian, Manchu, Chinese and Dutch (no. 2). Slips of paper with similar notes in the same hand were found in six other books and these must have belonged to him as well. No. 18 has a note in red ink in Italian about Von Möllendorff's catalogue, similar to no. 20, which has a slip of paper with notes by Kramp, and it is therefore assumed to have belonged to Kramp as well. In the same manner, no. 26 which has the same Western hard-cover binding as no. 2, is assumed to have belonged to Kramp. Probably more books belonged to him, but no evidence for this could be found. No. 39 is a manuscript by Julius Klaproth.

Finally, in 1952 one item (no. 9) was obtained from Mrs. Krebs in Gaienhofen, Germany. She was a granddaughter of the German sinologist Emil Krebs (1867-1930).

Appendix I: Description of five honorific decrees

The East Asian Library of Leiden University has four Chinese Imperial Decrees and one Presidential Decree bestowing titles of honour to the ancestors of meritorious officials.

The Imperial Decrees (Huangdi zhi 皇帝制) have a Manchu and Chinese text and are to be rolled out according to Manchu fashion from left to right. At the right end, woven into the brocade, between two dragons there is the text: Feng Tian gaoming 奉天誥命, “Official Mandate received from Heaven to bestow titles.” The texts on each decree are written with ink of various colours on brocade-paper, which also has different colours and motifs. All decrees except one have a slip of brocade on the outside with a short description. All have an Imperial seal and written date. Three Imperial edicts are for Manchu military officers and one is for a Chinese minister of war. The Presidential edict is for a meritorious military officer himself, with Chinese and Mongolian text.

Titles are translated according to Charles O. Hucker, A Dictionary of Official Titles in Imperial China, Stanford 1985.

1. Decree of honours for the parents of Xichan 西禪 dated 1761

Title on the slip of brocade outside: 鑲黃旗滿洲前鋒校加三級西禪之父母 “the parents of Xichan, Lieutenant of the Manchu Vanguard with third class added, Bordered Yellow Banner.”

His father Qige 七閣 received the title of zhongxian dafu 中憲大夫 “Grand Master Exemplar”, his mother Guan shi 官氏 and his four stepmothers 繼母 Minzhao shi 民兆氏, Wu shi 吳氏, another Wu shi 吳氏 and Cao shi 曹氏 each received the title of gongren 恭人 “Respectful Lady.”

The decree is dated 乾隆二十六年十一月二十日 (15 December 1761).

The brocade is coloured pink, beige, orange, red and brown and has a motif of clouds.

Height 35 cm, length 366 cm, diameter 7 cm.

One knob at the end of the wooden roller is still extant.

These names are not mentioned in Hummel, Eminent Chinese of the Ch'ing Period.

Shelfmark: Sinol. VGK 5806.55

2. Decree of honours for the parents of Shining 什寧 dated 1771

No title on the outside. For the parents of 正黃旗滿洲護軍參領加一級什寧

His father Heida Senai 黑達色迺 received the title of wugong dafu 武功大夫 “Grand Master of Military Merit”, and his mother Jueluo shi 覺羅氏 that of furen 夫人 “Dame-consort” (a member of the Aisin Gioro clan).

The decree is dated 乾隆三十六年十一月二十五日 (30 December 1771).

The brocade is coloured ochre, beige, orange, red, black, silver, and the Chinese text is written on black (Chinese date), green (?), blue, white, red and yellow. The brocade has a motif of clouds.

Height 35 cm, length 374 cm, diameter 7 cm.

There is a loose piece of brocade wrapping at the end.

These names are not mentioned in Hummel.

Shelfmark: Sinol. VGK 5806.56

3. Decree of honours for the parents of Dai Liankui 戴聯奎 dated 1819

Title on the slip of brocade outside: 經筵講官兵部尚書署吏部尚書加一級戴聯奎之父母, “the parents of Dai Liankui, Lecturer at the Classics Colloquium, Minister of War and acting Minister of Personnel with first class added.”

His father Dai Zhicheng 戴知誠 received the title of guanglu dafu 光祿大夫 “Grand Master for Splendid Happiness”, and his father’s legal wife 嫡母 Xu shi 徐氏 and his concubine, Dai Liankui’s natural mother 生母, Zhou shi 周氏 both received the title of yipin furen 一品夫人 “Dame-consort of the first degree.”

On the back of the scroll there is an archival number as follows: 覃恩 文 聖字第壹號尚書戴聯奎四軸, “four scrolls, Minister Dai Liankui, number 1, Holy [=Imperial] documents, civil, Great Graces.”

In the middle there is a seal zhigao zhi bao 制誥之寶, “Imperial seal of a decree of honours” .

The decree is dated 嘉慶二十四年正月初一日 (26 January 1819).

The brocade is coloured bright red, yellow, beige, dark red, black, red, orange, yellow. Moreover, six different colours of brocade are used for the Chinese text that is also written in various colours: black brocade with golden characters, red brocade with silver characters, yellow brocade with light blue characters, beige with black characters, dark red with green characters, and black with red characters. The brocade has a motif of birds and clouds.

Height 37 cm, length 485, diameter 8 cm.

Two jade knobs at the end of the wooden scroll are extant.

These names are not mentioned in Hummel.

Dai Liankui (1751-1822), jinshi of 1774, was successively minister of four ministries.

Shelfmark: Sinol. VGK 5806.57

4. Decree of honours for the grandparents of Wenfu 溫福, “1771”

Title on slip of brocade outside: 武英殿大學士兼兵部尚書定邊右副將軍兼雲騎尉加二級溫福之祖父母, “the paternal grandparents of Wenfu, Grand Secretary of the Hall of Military Glory, and Minister of War, Pacifier of the Frontier, Vice-general of the Right, and Commandant of Fleet-as-clouds Cavalry, with second class added.” His grandfather Wenda (Unda) 溫達 received the title of guanglu dafu 光祿大夫 “Grand Master for Splendid Happiness”, and his grandmother Xuan shi 宣氏 that of yipin furen 一品夫人 “Dame-consort of the first degree”.

Seal in the middle: zhigao zhi bao 制誥之寶, “Imperial seal of a decree of honours”.

The decree is dated 乾隆三十六年十一月二十五日 (30 December 1771), but it seems to be a modern copy, when one compares it with decree number 2 of the same date.

The brocade is coloured (gold) yellow, red, black, purple, beige, orange, red, black, purple, beige, ochre, red and black, all with the motif of a large bird and clouds. Manchu text is written with golden letters. In the middle there are many empty sections, coloured orange, red, black, purple (with one line of text), and yellow. Short Chinese text on ochre and red background. Jade pin for fastening the outside band.

Height 31 cm, length 492 cm, diameter 32 cm.

Stamp on the paper end next to the wooden roller with the name Zeng Rong 曾榮 or Cao Rong 曹榮.

Hummel mentions Wenfu on pp. 7, 20, 273, 444, 806. The Manchu Wenfu was made successor of Agui as supreme commander in Yunnan in 1771; he commanded the main army which attacked from the east during the Jinchuan campaign in 1772, and he was killed at the defeat of Mu-kuo-mu (Sichuan) with a large number of men in 1773.

5. Presidential Decree of honours for Luobusang Chezhu 羅布桑車珠 dated 1918.

Title on slip of paper on outside, with about eight unreadable characters: 卓索圖盟喀喇沁右旗鎮[...]封軸, “Honours scroll of [...] Right Kalaqin Banner, Zhuosuotu Tribe (Mongolian league).”

This is a Presidential Decree dazongtong ling 大總統令, by which Lobusang Chezhu, who was originally entitled Fuguo gong 輔國公 “Bulwark Duke”, was given the title of Zhenguo gong 鎮國公 “Defender Duke”, because of merits in repressing bandits.

Chinese seal only, with Chinese and with Mongolian text: fengrong zhi xi 封榮之璽
“Seal for bestowing honours.”

Dated 中華民國七年九月二十八日 (28 September 1918).

This scroll is to be unrolled from the right in Chinese fashion, and contains Chinese and Mongolian text. The Chinese text is written with black ink on red silk, the Mongolian text with golden ink on black silk. There are sections with pasted-on green brocade and red, yellow, blue, white and black silk. On the edges there is a motif of different cereal crops.

Height 35 cm, length 450 cm, diameter 7 cm.

This name Luobusang Chezhu is not mentioned in Boorman, Biographical Dictionary of Republican China.

Shelfmark: Sinol. VGK 5806.59

These decrees were donated to the Sinological Institute (East Asian Library, Leiden University library) by Mrs. G.A. Vixseboxse-Besier in November 2008 [and January 2009]. She originally bought them separately at open markets in Peking between 1949 and 1951. Her late husband the sinologist Dr. J. Vixseboxse (2 January 1916 – The Hague, 26 January 1986) was stationed as third secretary at the Netherlands Legation in China (Chungking, Nanking, Peking) from 1946 to 1951, and as the first Dutch ambassador to the People’s Republic of China from 1972 to 1976.
